Consent Form for Dental Hygienist Visits with Jet Wash

Gum Disease and Dental Hygiene visits

It is really important to understand the importance of Good Dental Hygiene.

For most patients 99% of good oral hygiene is down to a good daily routine of brushing and flossing.

However in many cases the patient requires treatment from the dental hygienist to create the healthy gums. After that, maintenance is down to the efforts of the patient!!

Regular and frequent hygienist and dental appointments are important too!!

Failure to maintain good oral hygiene will almost certainly mean that gum disease and/or periodontal disease may develop or re-establish.

Sometimes cleaning with the dental hygienist may be uncomfortable. ALWAYS let us know if you have any preferences, and we will do our best to accommodate you.

We can offer a range of ways to make your visit comfortable and pain free.

Jet Washing

The Jetwash involves high pressure water and Sodium Bicarbonate being used to clean the stains off your teeth.

We want to point out that some stain may remain and the procedure is quite messy and because it involves high pressure water and sodium bicarbonate, there may be spray onto the face, neck and clothes. It is messy but not harmful.

Sometimes a tooth may become sensitive during or after cleaning has been carried out. This is mainly due to the opening up of the dentinal tubules. (Please have a read of our Abrasion Cavity Leaflet).

Your Acknowledgement

1. Sometimes the Dental Hygienist may find additional treatment that is required, such as decay, and they will always let you know and advise about how to correct the problem.
2. Sometimes a patient may have a loose filling or crown which may be loosened as a result of the cleaning. In this case the hygienist will advise the patient and arrange for corrective treatment. In these cases an extra charge will be payable if the filling needs to be replaced.
3. Sometimes a tooth may become sensitive after cleaning has been carried out. This is mainly due to the opening up of the dentinal tubules. (Please have a read of our Abrasion Cavity Leaflet).
4. Similarly, cleaning of surfaces may reveal defects in the tooth structure and this may be associated with subsequent sensitivity and/or the need for further treatment. In these cases subsequent treatment will require additional charges.
5. If you wish to stop and/or change the treatment you will let us know immediately.
6. The dentist has explained the options for anaesthesia (local, sedation, general) and problems/risks/complications specific to each choice, and the likely outcomes if complications occur.
7. Signing this consent form is an acknowledgement of the fact that you are aware of the choices, risks and complications and are happy to proceed with your Gum Treatment with Jet Wash (CF Hyg Visits)
